Tutoring Experience

I have been tutoring IB English and A-Level English for the past five years, helping students from various academic backgrounds develop strong analytical and writing skills. My students consistently perform well in their exams, achieving high marks in their final assessments. I have also guided students through their IB Extended Essays, providing support on structure and content.

In addition to IB and A-Level, I work with students preparing for IGCSE and GCSE English exams. I create personalised learning plans for each student, ensuring they build confidence in their ability to analyse literature and express their ideas effectively. My approach is geared towards helping students achieve academic success in a wide range of curricula.
